

SEVEN STUDENTS MEET DEATH ON GRADE CROSSING

FIRE DAMAGE TO CAPITOL IS HELD AT $3000

Authorities Are More Interested Now In Cause of Blaze

Washington, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The tongues of red flame that leaped through the roof of the southwest wing of the Capitol last night and licked at the side of the huge white dome had left today only a small blackened spot on the side of the building.

The vividness of the flare; the shrieking sirens of the fire apparatus; first thoughts that century-old records, possibly the nearly nation-old structure itself, might be endangered, had faded this morning and fast were becoming part of the bulging history of Capitol Hill.

Officials were more concerned over the cause of the blaze than the damage wrought. They said the loss would amount to about $3,000; that the fire in no way would interfere with the convening of Congress Monday from the holiday recess; and that such documents and papers as were charred or water soaked were not a part of the permanent files.

Spectacular Blaze

The blaze, far more spectacular than that which destroyed part of the Executive Office of the White House Christmas Eve, originated in a room occupied by Carl Moberly, an artist who has decorated many of the long corridors in both the Senate and House wings.

Moberly was rescued from the room in a partly suffocated condition.

David S. Lynn, the Capitol architect, and Joseph G. Dodgers, the House Sergeant-at-Arms, reiterated this morning that they proposed to investigate carefully into the cause. Both were at the Capitol last night before the flames were extinguished.

The fire was discovered at 7 P. M. Reaching the Capitol a multitude of difficulties delayed the firemen. Most of the doors were locked. Some companies threw ladders against the structure to fight inward while others smashed the thick plate glass in the revolving door opening from the rotunda to the east plaza—the entrance through which thousands of tourists pass annually.

As firemen strove to reach the flames thousands of Washingtonians swarmed to Capitol Hill.

Crowd Hampered Firemen

So quickly did the crowd assemble, that hundreds were on hand before the last of the fire companies arrived and there were narrow escapes in several instances as the fire trucks roared into position.

Of the thousands obtaining information about the fire over the telephone was President Hoover. It was only a week ago that he stood on the west balcony of the White House dressed in evening clothes and watched the fire in the Executive Offices.

After firemen had smashed the east rotunda door, they carried hose lines through the rotunda—the walls of which are decorated with many valuable oil paintings of events of early American history, to reach the narrow, winding stairway to the fourth floor.

It was ascertained that no damage from water or smoke had resulted in either the hall or the rotunda.

Soon Under Control

Firemen had the blaze under control in slightly more than 10 minutes after they put their first hose in action, but considerable time had been lost in reaching the fire because of the winding stairway.

The fire was out within 45 minutes from the first alarm.

Moberly is 61 years of age. He has been a decorator at the Capitol for nearly 30 years and his paint brush had renovated many of the historic paintings on the walls of the Capitol as well as the designs along the corridors.

Last night's fire was in the central building on which construction was started in 1818, four years after the British had burned the original Capitol building, the corner stone of which was laid by George Washington.

Moberly Nervous

Moberly, who was found unconscious in his smoke filled room by firemen, appeared very nervous and said he did not know how the fire began and told Lynn that he seldom used cigarettes but smoked a pipe or cigar occasionally. The theory had been entertained that a cigarette, cigar or match carelessly tossed away might have smoldered until it burst into flame.

Lynn said he had learned that

Movie Cameramen To Be Subject Of Address In House

Washington, Jan. 4.—(UP)—The "ringmaster tactics" employed by movie cameramen at the Capitol fire last night will be the topic of a speech in the House Monday by Rep. John E. Rankin, Dem., Miss., the Congressman said today.

Rankin said he has been urged by several colleagues, spectators at the blaze, to assail the "commercialization of a national catastrophe."

Most of the excitement at the fire, was provided by the movie cameramen and news photographers, and the smoke from their flares was far denser than that which came from the flames.

CLARE BRIGGS IS DEAD; SPENT HIS BOYHOOD IN DIXON

Noted Cartoonist Is Pneumonia Victim In New York

Clare Briggs, 54, newspaper cartoonist, whose boyhood was spent in Dixon, where he was for a time a carrier for the Dixon Telegraph, and whose inspiration for series of cartoons "The Days of Real Sport" was in his recollections of his life in Dixon, died in New York last night from pneumonia, after a month's illness.

Mr. Briggs, who had many friends here, caused many a chuckle by his newspaper cartoons depicting the human side of American life, others than "The Days of Real Sport" being "When a Feller Needs a Friend," "Ain't it a Grand and Glorious Feeling" and "Mr. and Mrs. Smith."

Born in Wisconsin

Briggs was born in Reedsburg, Wis., but made his first acquaintance with newspaper work in Dixon, where he became a carrier boy. Later the family moved to Lincoln, Neb., where Briggs studied two years at the University of Nebraska and first took up drawing.

In 1896 he got a job as sketch artist on the St. Louis Democrat and later on the St. Louis Chronicle during the Spanish-American war.

Later he went to New York, and a picture of him seeking work here was in truth one of "When a Feller Needs a Friend."

In 1900 he returned to Lincoln and married Ruth Owen. In a few weeks he was sent to the Chicago American Examiner, then to the Chicago Tribune, going back to New York in 1914 to draw for the New York Tribune which later became the Herald Tribune.

He leaves three children, Mrs. Reuben A. Lewis, Jr., Ruth Briggs, and John O. Briggs. Services will be held Monday.

HALF OF CARS IN AUTO SHOW 8-CYLINDERED

One Maker Shows 16-Cylinder Machine: 300 Displayed

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The thirty-third annual National Automobile Show opens today in Grand Central Palace with 300 of the latest creations of the automotive world displayed by 46 American and two foreign manufacturers.

The trend toward motors in emphasized in this year's exhibition in which approximately half of the cars on display have power plants of the eight-cylinder type as compared with about a dozen last year. A 16-cylinder model is exhibited by Cadillac and two front wheel drive cars built by the Cord and Ruxton companies are being shown.

Other features outstanding are a silent transmission, eliminating the growling noise of second speed, and a general tendency to make bodies still lower, to carry streamline effects farther, to blend three hues in body colors and to employ the classic lines of ancient pottery in headlight and hubcap designs.

The show will be closed tomorrow and reopened Monday to continue throughout the week.

Opening of the exhibit will be broadcast through WEAF and associated radio stations at 5 P. M. Eastern Standard time, today.

Steward Man Was Shot At Noon Today

Charles Cole of near Steward was badly wounded in the right side, just above the hip, when a shotgun was accidentally discharged at his home. He was brought to the Dixon hospital this afternoon, and at 2:20 was being taken to the operating room.

MANY AFTER JOB AS ENUMERATOR IN CENSUS WORK

Supervisor Martin J. Gannon Has About 500 Applicants

Almost 500 applications for positions as census enumerators are on file in the office of Supervisor Martin J. Gannon, who will have charge of the survey in this district. No appointments will be made until between March 1 and March 10, at which time schools of instruction will be conducted in each of the counties in the district. Upon the recommendation of Supervisor Gannon, Paul Phillips of Sterling has been appointed as first assistant. Headquarters will be established in the Utley building where a special suite of offices will be used in filing the returns.

Supervisor Gannon announced this morning that the enumeration would not start before April 2 and will be completed in 30 days. Selection of enumerators will be based on credits and ex-service men and their wives will be given extra credits when final marks are compiled.

Important Position

The position of census enumerator is one of great importance, requiring a high order of executive ability. Supervisor Gannon said today in explaining that each is responsible for appointing about 150 enumerators and instructing them as to their duties, must supervise their work during the enumeration, approve the payment of sums due them and announce the population of each.

Census supervisors receive a basic payment of $1,800 and an addition one dollar for each 1,000 persons counted within their district and for each 100 farms therein. The length of service of the supervisors will average about six months, with their heavy duties entering between the months of March and July.

Enumerators' Work

Enumerators in the cities work for two weeks, April 1 to 15 while in the rural districts are allowed one month in which to complete their task. The pay averages from $5 to $8 per day.

For several censuses women have been employed in the capacity of enumerators—the people who do the actual house-to-house canvassing. They served as enumerators as far back as the census of 1900, and possibly in rare instances before that date.

The number of women enumerators has increased rapidly during the last three successive censuses, and indications are that more will be employed in 1930 than ever before. Women of high educational and clerical qualifications are often willing to work for the temporary period, whereas men or corresponding ability are usually already employed.

Question Girl In Radio Man's Death

East St. Louis, Ill., Jan. 4.—(UP)—A St. Louis stenographer is being questioned in connection with the disappearance of William Schmisser, Belleville radio dealer, whose bullet-riddled automobile was found abandoned Thursday on the outskirts of East St. Louis.

Schmisser, 45 years old, the father of three children, left his home New Year's night, telling his wife he was going to a theater.

Police say the girl admitted Schmisser called at her home and took her riding for an hour. From her statement authorities are inclined to believe that a jealous suitor or may have had a hand in the disappearance of Schmisser.

St. Clair county authorities and Belleville police combed the marsh near where the automobile was found, but were unable to find a clue.

Faces Jail Sentence For Beating A Baby

Decatur, Ill., Jan. 4.—(UP)—Convicted of beating his two-year old daughter, Claude Nihiser, this city, faced a penalty of one year in jail or a fine of $200 here today. A jury deliberated but 35 minutes here yesterday to find Nihiser guilty of three counts set forth in the information which charged him with unlawfully contributing to the delinquency of his child.

While a jury in county court was hearing evidence against Nihiser, his wife made him defendant in bill for divorce in Macon county Circuit Court here yesterday.

Negro Confesses He Attacked Young Girl

Chicago, Jan. 4.—(UP)—Police announced a giant Negro, Alex Ganes, 27, who is 6 feet, 2 inches tall and weighs 218 pounds, had confessed he seized Miss Charlotte Van Der Hack, 17-year-old high school student, on a suburban train platform and carried her to a railroad right-of-way where he attacked her. Ganes was questioned about the murder of Miss Laura Buchholz, beaten to death in Blue Island a year ago.

Two sisters, Lydia and Rebecca, and one brother, George A., preceded him in death.

State's Atty. Barred In Probing Of Bank

Springfield, Jan. 4.—(UP)—State's Attorney Roy R. Cline, Urbana, is ineligible to investigate the affairs of an Urbana bank, which was forced to close its doors recently, because he has been a depository in the bank, according to a ruling by Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom here today.

The ruling was made in compliance with Cline's request. Carlstrom, in making the ruling, added the statement that if his office was asked to conduct an investigation he would be forced to decline "due to pressure of other public business."

Asbestos has been used in industry at least since 450 B. C.

COOLIDGE AND SMITH DIFFER; CAL IS WINNER

They Disagree Over Publication Of Their Deliberations

By MORRIS DE HAVEN TRACY.

United Press Staff Correspondent.

New York, Jan. 4.—(UP)—Calvin Coolidge and Alfred E. Smith have divergent ideas on a number of things and among them, publicity.

When Mr. Coolidge, former Governor Smith and Julius Rosenberg met newspapermen yesterday to go over preliminary details of the announcement of the distribution they have of the estate of the late Conrad Hubert, inventor, Governor Smith wanted nothing said until Monday.

"Yes, go ahead and print the story of the meeting today," urged Mr. Coolidge. "Then on Monday the announcement of the distribution will not hurt. It will help."

"That may be all right," insisted Governor Smith, "but the trouble is that there won't be story enough Monday for these men. It won't go on the front page. It will go way back next to O'Sullivan's heels."

Smith Capitulated

Mr. Coolidge wiggled his right foot, which he had swung from the knee over the left leg, and said nothing.

Governor Smith capitulated and permission was given to publish the story that the three famous leaders of divergent schools of thought and politics, had held their final meeting and completed their work on the Hubert distribution.

Only a moment later Mr. Coolidge and Smith seemed about to disagree on whether newspapermen would be permitted to say the report would be made public Monday.

"You can print the story of today's meeting," said Smith, "and say that the report will be made public in a few days."

"I think it will be ready Monday," Mr. Coolidge said quietly, tapping the arm of his chair with the small intaglio ring he wears on the third finger of his left hand.

The report will be made public Monday. The three received the reporters in the directors room of the Bankers Trust Company.

R. J. Slothower Is Struck By An Auto

R. J. Slothower, well known Dixon business man, suffered a possible fracture of the skull at 12:15 o'clock this noon when he was knocked down by an automobile at the intersection of Galena ave. and Fifth street, and is now at the Dixon public hospital, where it was stated early this afternoon his condition was not considered serious at that time. According to reports Mr. Slothower started to cross the street and step down off the curb in front of a car driven by Hal Stroup, who applied the brakes of his machine at once. However the pavement was wet and slippery and the rear of the car skidded around and struck the former, knocking him down.

MELLON IS GIVEN HOOVER BACKING TO STAND FIRM

Will Not Resign To Please Leaders of The Drys

Washington, Jan. 4.—(UP)—Secretary of Treasury Mellon will stand by his guns, backed by President Hoover, in the face of the dry attack on him to be renewed when Congress returns to work Monday.

Mellon has no intention of resigning, it can be said authoritatively despite revived demands from congressional dries who have sniped at him continually for the last several years.

Mellon publicly defended the policies of his office yesterday upon emerging from a general discussion of the prohibition controversy at the Cabinet meeting. He spoke with President Hoover's approval.

The slight, soft-voiced man who still appears timid in a group, talked at length and without the usual hesitation. He spoke voluntarily and his statements appeared premeditated.

The administration policy will be to press for legislation transferring the enforcement agencies from the Treasury to the Justice Department thereby removing them from Mellon's control and likewise removing one of the main complaints lodged against the Treasury here.

He Favors Transfer

Mellon is favorable to this transfer, even including the industrial alcohol section, but said that transfer of alcohol jurisdiction to the Justice Department is opposed by other officials in the department.

Congressional dries, particularly Senator Borah of Idaho, charge there is large diversion of alcohol from bonded warehouses, and that this is one of the weak spots in prohibition enforcement.

Meanwhile it was learned that President Hoover has been unsuccessful in his effort to establish peace in his Law Enforcement Commission. A rift has developed among members regarding procedure and the prospective report to be made to Congress soon after Jan. 6.

Several members of the Commission have protested against the secretive method in which the board has conducted its business. At least two resignations may be expected, it was said, unless the President is able to find a way out of the difficulty.

Some of the dissatisfied members have carried their case to Senators who promised an airing of the situation, it was said.

FESS MAY BE CHOSEN

Washington, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Speculation over whether Senator Fess of Ohio would head the joint congressional committee which will consider the reorganization of prohibition enforcement machinery gained momentum today from his visit with President Hoover at the White House last night.

Fess, who previously had suggested Senator Borah of Idaho for the post, was a dinner guest of the President, along with Senator Capper of Kansas, another Republican. Before his visit to the White House the Ohioan said he did not want the job and would take it only under compulsion.

Senator Borah declined to discuss the proposal that he be made chairman of the committee further than to say he was "deeply moved by the solicitude of my friend from Ohio." He did, however, deny reports that Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former Assistant Attorney General in charge of prohibition, had turned over to him information regarding dry enforcement conditions.

New Suggestion

Meanwhile, a new problem for the proposed committee to thrash out has been raised by Secretary Mellon. Upon his return from a vacation trip, the Treasury head proposed that all prohibition enforcement activities be transferred from his department to the Treasury.

President Hoover had suggested that the Treasury retain supervision of industrial alcohol permits. At the same time, Mellon defended the action of Coast Guardsmen in killing three members of the crew of the Black Duck last Sunday, and it was earned at the Treasury that it was making an independent investigation into the shooting. The statement of the Secretary supported the stand already taken by other officials of the department.

Industrial alcohol, the one subject in which the recommendations of the Treasury Secretary and the President differed has flared several times in the heated flare-up over prohibition that has grown up over the holidays. Prohibition Commissioner Doran announced yesterday that an agreement had been reached for industrial alcohol manufacturers to cut down this year's output by 15 per cent.

Stringent Enforcement

While he was making this announcement, Mellon said that he

Coast Guard Asked Not To Fire Upon Company's New Boat

New York, Jan. 4.—(UP)—The American Car & Foundry Company has asked the United States Coast Guard not to fire on its newly constructed standard type A. C. F. 47-foot cruiser when that craft is sailed here from Wilmington, Dela., for display at the 1930 motor boat show.

Accompanying the written request, which was signed by Edward A. Hodge, in charge of the foundry company's cruiser division, was a photograph of the boat.

"It is requested," Hodge wrote, "that you withhold any machine gun fire in case your warning signals are inadvertently overlooked as this boat is not navigated from an open bridge; quite on the other hand the navigator is isolated within the boat by sound proof glass."

QUARTET TAKEN IN SPRINGFIELD LIQUOR RUNNERS

Known To Have Knowledge Of Liquor Business There

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 4.—(UP)—Evidence that four men, seized in a raid on a rooming house across from the official residence of Governor L. L. Emmerson Thursday, were runners was claimed by police here today. Arrest of the quartet was said to have smashed a plot to hold up the local postoffice, which at times is in possession of huge amounts of cash, shipped by local banks to Chicago. Four machine guns were found in the men's rooms when the police raided their rooms.

According to police the men, who have not yet been charged with any law violation, were well acquainted with local traffickers in liquor. They say the four had been working out of Springfield for several months. Efforts to connect three of the men with murders in Missouri and Indiana were still being made today.

Reports from St. Louis denied that Allen O'Hara, one of the four prisoners, was connected with a killing during a Wash Street hold-up there.

Frank Fagan, another one of the prisoners, was said by St. Louis police to have participated in the slaying of Policeman Eugene Lovely but escaped punishment by turning state's evidence. Another man "is said to have been hanged for the crime."

W. T. Moors, another prisoner was said to be involved in the slaying of Edward Ewald, St. Louis gangster in Indiana. He was arrested in connection with the slaying but was acquitted.

Mrs. Jack Bell, wife of the fourth member of the quartet, and Miss Laura Palmer, arrested with the men, were released yesterday.

Former Poloite Dead In New York

Polio, Jan. 4.—Mrs. E. W. Kramer of this city, this morning received a telegram announcing the sudden death of her sister, Mrs. Anna Lichtenheim, aged 60, in New York city late last night. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lichtenheim resided in the Marguery Hotel and the latter was one of two victims of the fire. They occupied apartments on the eleventh floor and failure of the elevator to operate necessitated their walking down eleven flights of stairs to escape the dense smoke and fumes which filled the building. Arriving on the ground floor, Mrs. Lichtenheim collapsed and died within a few seconds, supposedly of a heart attack.

The deceased was the daughter of Thomas and Amanda Coakley and was born in Polo 60 years ago. She is survived by her husband, one sister, Mrs. E. W. Kramer and a brother John Coakley of Polo.

First School For New Scoutmasters

The first of a weekly course of lessons in Scout Leadership to which all interested men are invited, will be held at the new high school next Wednesday evening, and leaders of the movement in Dixon and vicinity are hopeful for a large attendance and widespread interest in this series of lessons.

The purpose of this course is to give the students a general knowledge of the aims of the Boy Scout program, with stress on the methods which can be used to teach this program to the boys. It is intended to give the new Scoutmaster a logical viewpoint of Scouting and a systematic basis on which he may build his future activities with boys.

B. C. Whitmore, Pastor

And the old year is gone! The New Year has come. We welcome it, and wish you all a very happy and prosperous year. We have all reached another milestone on the way to eternity. May each one ask himself the question, "Where Shall I Spend Eternity?" It will depend upon what we do with each day. Tomorrow is a myth, today is a fact. Do right each day, and do your best, and there will be no sad yesterday. Hat's off to the past; coats off to the future. Your soul, like your body, lives on what you feed it. Pray often; commune with God often; mingle with others in worship and fellowship regularly, and give something to help God's cause. God's word says, "Try me and see." Trust in God and work, and you will succeed.

The Sunday School's study next Sunday, "The Childhood of Jesus." This lesson contains the beginnings of a great earthly life that has not nor will ever cease. Have you discovered the secret of a great life? The sermon to follow the Bible hour will be, "Preparation for the Journey." Let us find and follow the tried and true way together.

The evening services begin at 7 o'clock. The C. W. Society department will be in charge. The evening message will be at 7:45, and the theme, "Conditions and Prosperity." Every person owes it to himself and family, and to his community and nation to take part in religious things from which he receives untold help. We invite you and your friends to worship with us. May the Lord bless you.

When paying the subscription to the Telegraph make all checks payable to the Dixon Telegraph.

Where 'Gift Bomb' to Bride Spread
Death

Wrapped in gay paper and holly, a delayed "Christmas package" loaded with high explosives, dealt death to Mrs. Naomi Brady, lower right, 18-year-old bride, when the "gift" exploded as it was being opened in the kitchen of her home, pictured above, in a Maryland suburb of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Brady's mother, Mrs. Nora Hall, and the latter's four children were seriously injured by the blast, as was Stuart Carmel, lower left, who was standing on the porch of the house. Working on a theory of jealousy, police sought a former acquaintance of Mrs. Brady for questioning.

announcement, the Department of justice was moving in two directions toward more stringent enforcement of the dry laws. In one case, it sought a ruling from the Supreme Court that when a person gives a bootlegger an order requiring transportation of liquor, he is guilty of conspiracy to violate the law.

In the other, Attorney General Mitchell sent to Chairman Capper of the Senate's District of Columbia committee, his program for making Washington a model city for prohibition enforcement. It would call for two additional federal judges and enlarged police powers, among other things.

the alarm had been turned in by a man named Hall who had been in Moberly's studio before the fire originated.

Another theory that defective electric wiring might have started the fire was dispelled by the report of a fire inspector who said that he had found the wiring in good condition.

Another possible cause took its place, however, when Moberly told Lynn that the fire might have begun from a pail of oil-soaked waste in the studio. He explained that he used the waste in cleaning and retouching pictures and said that in addition to being permeated with oil it contained certain chemicals used in retouching pictures.

"It settles down to one of two things," Lynn said. "Either it was caused by spontaneous combustion or from someone smoking." He added that the investigation was being continued and that it was too early for a detailed report.

MANSFIELD FREE ON BONDS UNTIL
TRIAL IS CALLEDThird Trial Of Peoria
Man Will Be Staged
In Springfield

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 4.—(UP)—Morris Mansfield, alleged to have sold poisoned rum which caused the deaths of several persons, was free on bond today following his removal from the Peoria county jail to Sangamon county yesterday. The accused slayer was released on Sheriff's bond of $10,000 a few hours after his arrival here. Heretofore Mansfield had failed to furnish bond and has been held in the Peoria county jail.

Mansfield will be tried in Sangamon County Circuit Court at the January term, which convenes Monday. His case, however, will not be set for hearing until all civil cases of the ensuing term have been disposed of. Following disposition of civil cases, which will be about January 13, the criminal docket will be set.

Mansfield was brought to Sangamon county in keeping with the statute which requires prisoners who are to be tried during a term of court must be in the county three days prior to the convening of that term.

Mansfield will be tried with his wife, Jessie Mansfield, on a charge of murdering Clarence Hoppe, one of the victims of the alleged poisoned rum. Mrs. Mansfield has been free on bond since her indictment in Peoria county several months ago.

Mansfield has been tried in Peoria county twice, but the juries disagreed. On a change of venue allowed by Judge T. N. Green the case was transferred to the Sangamon County Circuit Court.

The prosecution will be in charge of H. E. Pratt, State's Attorney of Peoria county, and he will be assisted by State's Attorney H. E. Fullender of Sangamon county.

Sheriff's Wife To Run For His Job

Hillsboro, Ill., Jan. 4.—(UP)—The office of Sheriff of Montgomery county gives promise of being a family affair for another term.

Because the statute prohibits a sheriff to succeed himself, Mrs. Hattie Hill, wife of Henry C. Hill, present High Sheriff of Montgomery county, announced that she will make the race for sheriff at the April primaries.

Then, if Mrs. Hill wins at the fall elections, she announced that she would appoint her husband Chief Deputy.

Mrs. Hill is a Republican.

Cleveland Police

All Seek Gunman

Cleveland, O., Jan. 4.—(AP)—A desperate man hurt was organized by police here today when the entire police force of Cleveland was put on 12-hour duty with orders to get "dead or alive" the gunman who seriously wounded Miss Janet Blood, pretty high school girl, his third shooting victim within a month. Even traffic police will serve overtime while the man hunt is on.

Like the other two girls who were wounded, Miss Blood, 16, was shot without excuse or reason. The bullet struck near her heart, and the gunman fled.

Lying near death in a hospital today, the newest victim of the maniac described him as a "slim, dark complexioned, hook nosed man about 26 years old, of medium height."

HOG FUTURES
INNOVATION ON
CHI. EXCHANGEPlan Will Be Put Into Effect Within Next Few Weeks

Chicago, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Within the next few weeks, the Chicago Livestock Exchange will begin trading in future delivery of hogs.

In announcing this innovation in livestock marketing, Everett C. Brown, President of the Exchange, said the plan was effected to satisfy the demands of producers and processors of hogs who "wanted some system which would afford them the opportunity to hedge operations and thus reduce risks incidental to price deflation and minimize risks incidental to hog ownership."

The Chicago Livestock Exchange, however, will do no trading, merely providing the necessary space and personnel, Brown said. It was also pointed out that the future market will in no way interfere with the present

Potato Souffle for 8
3 cups hot mashed potatoes
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon paprika
1-4 teaspoon celery salt
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
2 egg yolks
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1-2 cup finely grated cheese
Mix potatoes, salt, paprika, celery salt, parsley and egg yolks. Beat 2 minutes. Fold in egg whites and roughly pile in a buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

Hot Bars, Willard
3 cups flour
2-3 teaspoons salt
6 teaspoons baking powder
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons lard
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons soft butter
2 tablespoons cream
Mix flour, salt and baking powder. Cut in 3 tablespoons of butter and lard. Use a knife for this mixing. Slowly add milk. When soft dough forms pat it out until 1-4 inch thick. Divide in halves. On one half spread soft butter and cream. Top with other half, pressing to keep it in place. Cut bars 2-3 inch wide and 2 inches long. Place 1 inch apart on a baking sheet. ## Paris Notes

By K. DORSAY

PARIS—Jewels that look like almonds are the newest Paris craze. Fashionable women are wearing them strung together in necklaces and bracelets, and are setting them in brooches and rings.

The smartest topaz almonds are especially light in color, and approach the actual color and shape of almonds. There is a certain chic attached to those stones that are crystal clear, almost white. Most of them are worn with dresses of white, and are combined with crystal or other stones.

The topaz necklace pictured is one that has just been introduced in Paris—the joint creation of a well-known jeweler and a French dressmaker. It is a waist-length chain made almost entirely of topaz almonds, finished at the center-front with three rings of rock crystal, joined by loops of small pearl beads. It is worn with a dress of pale beige maroon crepe.

Topaz and other beige beads and brooches are seen frequently in Paris nowadays since French women have taken up the American fashion of wearing white for evening and at formal afternoon affairs.

classes next week Tuesday and Wednesday.

E. R. B. Class First Meeting New Year

The E. R. B. Class of the Bible school of St. Paul's Lutheran church held their first meeting of the new year Thursday evening in the church parlors. There was a good attendance although much sickness was reported among the members.

The reports for the past year were given and these showed splendid work accomplished. Plans were discussed for the work of the coming year, but it was decided to wait the decision of these plans until the next meeting when all the new officers will be present. At the close of the business session a short program was given and a social hour much enjoyed. The program was as follows, each member responding to an encore:

Piano solo—Miss Edna Fischer.
Reading—Mrs. Alta Bennett.
Piano solo—Miss Marcella Bennett.
Vocal solo—Miss Goldie A. Bright.

The social committee served delicious refreshments.

ONCE UPON A TIME

Armida

"The Law That Failed" was being discussed in movies away back in 1917. It must have been some other law.

"Love Without Question" holds one great advantage. It does away with a lot of goofy answers.

As star of "General Crack," his first talking picture, John Barrymore has gypsy blood in his veins and Armida forwards the plot at high pressure.

For "Double Feature" Day "Resurrection" "He Comes Up Smiling"

"Disraeli" is another politician who refuses to quit. He continues as a talkie, starring George Arliss.

Making "Sugar" From Sap There is an early run of sap this season. "The Sap From Syracuse" is a new play. Edward Everett Horton is "The Sap" starring in Warner Bros. current talkie.

RICHARDSON FOR SHERIFF.

Fred A. Richardson has served as Chief Deputy in the Lee County Sheriff's office during the term of Sheriff Ward Miller, which expires this fall. The Telegraph believes that the residents of the county appreciate the splendid manner in which the sheriff's office has been conducted and the fine record that Sheriff Miller and his organization of deputies have made. No small part of the credit for the handling of the business of the office is given by Sheriff Miller to his Deputy, Fred Richardson. Mr. Richardson is a candidate for Sheriff to succeed Mr. Miller. He will, if elected, carry on the good work of law enforcement in a highly efficient manner, for he is that kind of an officer. Mr. Richardson seeks the Republican nomination, and we believe he should have it for the sake of continued efficiency in the sheriff's office.

FIRST WOMAN CANDIDATE.

Lee County has its first woman candidate for office and she happens to be so capable and so efficient and so well trained in the duties of the office she seeks that the Telegraph hopes that Mrs. Olive J. Thompson receives the Republican nomination for County Treasurer and that she will be elected by the voters.

Mrs. Thompson has served with great credit as Chief Deputy during the administration of the office of County Treasurer by her husband, Dorrance Thompson, and the faithful, courteous and efficient service rendered the public and the county during their tenure of office entitles Mrs. Thompson to the consideration of the voters at the coming elections.

MORE FUNDS ARE NEEDED.

Rodney Dutcher points out that the new administration in the U. S. Indian Bureau is doing its level best to relieve the distressing conditions on government reservations, but that it is sadly hampered by lack of funds.

For some time our treatment of our Indian wards has been little short of a disgrace. We now have competent, intelligent men in charge of this work, and they are doing their best to remedy matters; but they cannot go far without more money.

The budget bureau has refused to increase their funds. Only Congress can relieve the situation. It is to be hoped that Congress will act quickly and make available whatever sum is needed. The Indians deserve better care than they have been getting, and no federal economy program should be allowed to stand in the way.

A REAL MURDER MYSTERY.

It is altogether a peculiar affair, this Ozark mystery murder case. It sounds as if some clever fiction writer must have had a hand in arranging things.

A girl accuses four men of murdering her sweetheart, saying that she saw them do it. The four are arrested. They promptly produce a man, alive and well, who says that he is the supposed murder victim.

The girl denies that he is the man, and so does another man, a former friend of the girl's sweetheart. But other people insist that he is—as, of course, he does himself.

All in all, it made such a puzzle that the jury acquitted the prisoners. From this distance it is hard to see how it could have done anything else. But—what did happen that night? There is evidently a lot to this thing that hasn't been told.

Many a man who prides himself on being a liberal thinker is pretty slow in reaching for the dinner check.

Some New Year resolutions probably will be kept. . . . For one thing, you can't play the stock market without any money.

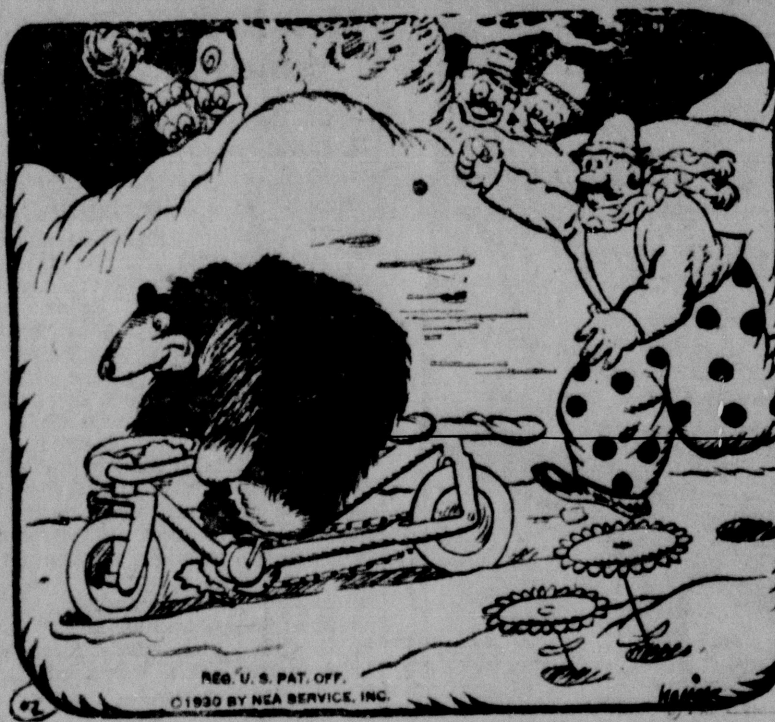

A headline says that learned men are still seeking the fountain of eternal youth. Why don't they ask grandma what drug store she patronizes?

Educator tells the scientists at Des Moines that youth begins to "revolt" at the age of 12. If that man had ever tried to get a bowl of spinach down a three-year-old who didn't want it, he'd know it begins a lot earlier than that.

The Union Pacific railroad is to cancel its carload rates on beer shipments, "because there is no longer any movement of such traffic." Oh well, maybe they can pick up those rates and use them on the Detroit river.

A schooner containing $180,000 worth of whisky was seized off Boston when coast guards found it running without lights. We would have thought that anybody carting that much whisky around would be well enough lit to satisfy anybody.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The bear sure had a heap of fun. He sat and made the long bike run around in funny circles. Then he'd bounce upon the seat. He waved his front paws in the air and looked as if he didn't care what happened to the bicycle. The whole sight was a treat.

The Tinymites still hid from sight. It seemed the bear was tame all right, but they all seemed afraid to stand out where they could be seen. "Oh, my," said one. "What can we do? We face a problem that is new. The bear should get a spanking 'cause he's acting very mean."

"The bike is ours. He has no right to use it. Let's make a light. What say we make some snowballs and then chase him out of here? We can pull one of our good stunts and start in throwing all at once. Perhaps, with such excitement, it will fill him full of fear."

"Well, I don't know," another sighed. "That is a plan that might be tried, but just supposin' Mister Bear decides to stay and fight. He's big and tall and very fat and with his paws, could crush us flat. I sady fear the snowball plan would turn out far from right."

Just then a voice came from afar. "Hey, Buster, tell me where you are. You ran away from me and now I'll punish you right quick. You cannot stay away for long. You only get yourself in wrong. Your sneaking out of sight was just another funny trick."

"Oh, look! A man is bound this way," cried Scouty. "I just hope he'll stay until he catches Mister Bear. Then we can get our bike. The man ran out and chased the bear. The race was something really rare. 'Ha, ha,' cried Clowny. 'This is just the sort of scene I like.'"

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

WASHINGTON'S MESSAGE

On Jan. 4, 1790, George Washington issued his first annual presidential message.

Before Congress, in his first message, Washington laid an eminently judicious series of suggestions of laws and provisions, which were at once made the basis of legislation.

Washington refrained from allying himself with either of the two parties, Federalist and Democratic Republican, then forming under Hamilton and Jefferson. On the contrary, he strove to reconcile the differences between the two leaders which he saw in the future must in-

Blimp Gives Seminoles Taste of High Life

High over the dismal swamps in the Florida Everglades which their tribe has inhabited for centuries, Seminole braves and squaws were taken on their first air ride in the baby blimp, Defender, at Miami. Here you see them, picturesque in their gaudy, multi-colored tribal costumes, staring curiously at the white man's airship which took a group of them aloft from the Musale reservation.

NEGRO SERVANT OF SLAIN MOVIE MAKER HAS TALE

Officer Of A Reform Association Heard Tale After Crime

BY FRANK H. BARTHOLOMEW United Press Staff Correspondent San Francisco, Jan. 4.—(UP)—The latest developments in the William Desmond Taylor murder case, reported recently by a former Governor of California after a lapse of eight years without arrests or indictments, was volunteered today by an executive officer of a statewide law enforcement organization.

He told newspapermen that Henry Peavey, Negro valet of the slain movie-maker, had witnessed a bitter quarrel in the Taylor home immediately preceding the tragedy. Taylor was violently denounced by another person well known in the film world, and recognized by Peavey the latter said.

The young servant asserted he had volunteered information regarding the quarrel to investigators immediately after Taylor's bullet-riddled body was found the next morning.

Had Been Frightened Every effort was made to shake his story by the District Attorney's office, and Peavey was said to have been so frightened by direct and implied threats that he eliminated all reference to the quarrel from his testimony at the coroner's inquest, and left Los Angeles.

The reform official, who asked that his name and that of his organization be withheld because of the nature of the work engaged in, told the United Press:

"I met the boy by chance in the office of a typewriter company here where he was employed, shortly after the Taylor case. I recognized his name and asked him his story. This was done entirely on my own responsibility, and not in an official capacity."

The official said he would furnish full facts in connection with Peavey's statement to Bureau Pitts, District Attorney at Los Angeles, if requested to do so.

Servant's Account The official said Peavey's account of what happened the night of the murder was approximately as follows:

"I went to Mr. Taylor's home about 7 o'clock in the evening, to check out for the day, as was customary."

"Hearing loud voices which I recognized as those of Taylor and ———, I remained outside the door."

"I stood there for ten minutes, listening to the furiously angry voice berating Taylor. I didn't want to wait any longer, because I had an engagement down town, so I knocked on the door and opened it."

"In the room I saw Taylor and ———, whose voice I had recognized. I told him I was leaving for the night, closed the door and went out."

"Taylor's driver told me later that he had telephoned from down town as usual at 7:30 P. M. He received no response to the call. Arriving at the Taylor house, he found it dark and got no response to rings at the door bell."

This would seem to fix the time of the shooting at between 7:10 P. M. when Peavey left, and the asserted furious quarrel was in progress, and 7:30 P. M. when Taylor's chauffeur telephoned.

Douglas MacLean, motion picture comedian and occupant of an adjoining bungalow in the same court, testified at the inquest that he had heard a noise like a muffled shot at about that hour.

This was corroborated by Edna Purviance, former leading lady for Charlie Chaplin, who also lived in the picturesque court on Alvarado Street.

'29 FAIRLY GOOD YEAR FOR STATE FARMERS, SURVEY

Joint Report Is Made By State And Federal Officers

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 4.—(UP)—1929 was fairly good to Illinois farmers according to an analysis of a joint survey of state crops last year by the state and Federal Departments of Agriculture.

Little difference was noted in the total acreage of all crops harvested last year as compared with the previous year, even though decreased acreage was recorded in corn, spring wheat, oats and barley.

Against this, however, there was increased acreage in winter wheat, tame hay and soybeans. The last two with peaches produced the largest crops in the state's history.

Values Decreased Gross farm value of the sixteen leading state crops is estimated at $425,000,000, a decrease of $12,000,000 as compared with last year but an increase of $65,000,000 over 1927.

The northern half of Illinois fared better than the southern half, and the northwestern area shows the best general acreage for all crops.

With the exception of the northern third of the state, the 1929 season started un auspiciously. Plowing and early cultivation work dragged along the latest in several seasons.

Later, dry hot weather reduced small grain yields, especially in southern Illinois, but was favorable for corn and advancing of all field work. Frosts held off for the greater portion of the state until the third week in October.

Field work was halted by rainy spells during the late fall, but the advent of winter found farm work fairly well caught up.

Summary of the principal crops for 1929 follows:

Corn—Decrease of 8 per cent compared with the 1928 yield. State yield for 1928 was 35 bushels per acre as compared with 38.4 bushels a year ago. State production 1929, 311,500,000 bushels against 367,488,000 bushels in 1928.

Winter wheat—Illinois winter wheat acreage harvested this season is placed at 2,270,200 acres compared with 1,261,000 acres harvested a year ago. State yield per acre 14.7 bushels against 14 bushels in 1928. Production 33,369,000 against 17,654,000 bushels last season.

Oats—Illinois oat acreage harvested this season, 4,500,000 against 4,649,000 acres in 1928. Yield per acre 33.5 compared 37.5 bushels last season. State production 141,738,000 against 174,388,000 bushels a year ago.

Soybeans—Acreage harvested for beans 240,000 acres compared with 186,000 last year. State yield per acre 16.5 bushels or same as for the 1928 season. Production 3,960,000 bushels against 3,069,000 bushels in 1928.

Tame Hay—State acreage 3,557,000 acres against 3,115,000 acres last year. Yield per acre 1.56 tons compared with 1.32 tons last season. Production 5,554,000 tons against 4,108,000 tons in 1928.

Chevrolet And Willys Showrooms Receive 1930 Creations

The new 1930 Chevrolet models were being displayed for the first time in Dixon today at the J. L. Glassburn sales rooms on Second street. Three of the new models are being shown and demonstrated. The new models are classified by the manufacturers as being "The Greatest Chevrolet in Chevrolet history." Prices on the new cars have been reduced from $30 to $60. Scores of distinct improvements have been made. Greater beauty, added safety factors, improved riding comfort, faster acceleration, and greater speed and notable changes.

Larger tires, smaller wheels, Delco-Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers at all four wheels, with enclosed brake units, Fisher slanting non-glare VV windshield and vastly improved four-wheel braking system are some of the high lights.

The attractive new closed bodies in a variety of colors, carry the famous Fisher stamp of craftsmanship. Eight models, three of which are new to Chevrolet, comprise the line. Of the eight, five are closed and three are open. The closed cars are the sedan, coach, coupe, sport coupe and club sedan. The open models are the roadster, sport roadster and phaeton. The models new to the line this year are the sport coupe, sport roadster and club sedan.

New Willys Car.

A de luxe sedan is the model being shown today and several other of the new models together with the new Willys-Knight will be received and placed on display next week.

The Willys six replaces the Whippet in the six cylinder class this year with added power and speed. The car is equipped with a new attractive body, hydraulic shock absorbers, adjustable front seat and much increased body space which adds to the comfort of the passengers.

The Willys is equipped with both wood and wire wheels, the wheels being considerably smaller with larger tires, which adds to the riding comfort. The new models are presented in new colors and are attracting a great deal of attention.

This Plane Hat Isn't So Plain

Air-minded young ladies might find this a bit light-headed for use, but Alice White, cinema actress, startled the natives along Hollywood's boulevards when she "took off" with this hat. It may be a plane hat, but it isn't so plain, we'd say.

Mikado's Brother to Wed Soon

Jan. 17 has been set as the date for the royal wedding of Prince Takamatsu, brother of the emperor of Japan, and Miss Kikuko Tugawa, shown here. The bride is a granddaughter of the last of the Shoguns, ancient hereditary military commanders of Japan. The engagement of the young couple was announced some time ago.

In Last Attempt To Escape Death

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 4.—(AP)—A last attempt to escape the electric chair is to be made by Aaron Woodward, who was convicted of the murder of Policeman Jeremiah O'Connell in Chicago.

At the December session the Supreme Court affirmed the judgement of the Cook County Circuit Court, sentencing Woodward to death. Woodward's defense was that he shot and killed the policeman when he was ordered to "put up his hands" and feared for his life.

A notice that a petition for rehearing will be presented to the Supreme Court was filed by Woodward's attorney Friday.

Millard Fillmore was the only United States president who made no inaugural address.

DIXON QUINTETS VICTORIOUS IN AMBOY CONTESTS

Both Teams On Top In Opening Of New H. S. Gymnasium

Dixon Heavies, 22; Amboy, 19. Dixon Lights, 19; Amboy, 6.

BY ROBERT LE SAGE

The formal opening of the new high school gymnasium in which the basketball squad appeared in the first games of the home schedule, attracted a good sized crowd last evening, who witnessed Dixon administer a double defeat to the Amboy squad, the second time this season. It was a non-conference game, and Amboy started off by scoring the first points in the heavyweight contest. Dixon soon located the baskets and started caging the hoops from all angles of the floor. Vorhis and Cortright were the leaders in the scoring and the entire team performance had increased materially over their showing at Rock Falls two weeks ago. At the end of the half, Dixon led by a score of 16 to 4.

Amboy attempted to overcome the lead in the second half but were unsuccessful. Wittenour for the visitors was an outstanding star and scored two difficult throws. The teams lined up as follows:

Amboy—Otteneheimer, (Capt.), Eller, Antoine, forwards; Wittenour, center; Potter, Schneider, guards.

Dixon—Cortright, Lebre, Plowman, Worley, forwards; Vorhis (Capt.), center; Hasselburg, Teeter, guards.

Referee—Edwards, Rockford. Umpire—Nordquist, Rockford.

Lightweights Win.

The Dixon seconds were also slow in getting started but soon swung into form and completely bewildered their opponents. In the first half Hilliker led the attack by scoring five of Dixon's seven points, the score at the half being 7 to 1. In the second period Mitchell took the lead, taking Hilliker's place, and caged two floor shots. Donaldson played a fine game for Amboy and scored two baskets in the second half. With 36 seconds of the game left to play, he was retired on four personal fouls the final count being 19 to 6. The teams lined up as follows:

Amboy—Dewey, Reilly, forwards; Mynard, center; Donaldson, Barlow and Sullivan, guards.

Dixon—Hilliker, Carlson and Mitchell, forwards; Kennedy, center; Brown, Wolfe and Flanagan, guards.

Automatic instruments were to record weather conditions there and parachutes were to bring them safely to earth, maybe hundreds of miles away. A reward of $5 is offered each finder who returns the instruments and records in accordance with directions contained in a waterproof envelope.

SHIRES BARRED
BY N. B. A. PENDING
MICH. PROBEGreat One's Scraps
May Be Limited
To A. L. Parks

Chicago, Jan. 4.—(UP)—Indications today were that Arthur (The Great) Shires would do his future pugilistic work in American League ball lots rather than in the boxing ring.

Under the edict of the National Boxing Association Shires is temporarily suspended from fight activities in 32 states, pending investigation of reports that his scheduled fight this week in Detroit was fixed.

The N. B. A. ruling arbitrarily cancelled eight or ten fights carded for The Great One. The Michigan Boxing Commission, which suspended Shires, is to meet Jan. 9, and until then, at least, the ruling of the national fight body will stand.

Shires, still in Detroit nursing a sore shoulder, has denied all knowledge that his scheduled fight with Battling Criss was in the bag for him. If any fixing was done, he declared, it was without his knowledge and against his desires.

What effect the fight angle will have on Shires' baseball future was in doubt today. Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball's high commissioner, was known to be watching the matter closely, but he was keeping his own counsel regarding possible action he may take should charges against Shires be proved.

Last Half Of Long Beach Field Is Off

Long Beach, Calif., Jan. 4.—(AP)—The last half of the 250 entrants in the Long Beach $3,500 open golf tournament will go to the tee today for an 18-hole qualifying round to shoot at the 67 stroke record hung up by Olin Dutra and Charles Guest yesterday in leading the first group.

Indications are that those of the last half will have to come with five strokes of Dutra and Guest, Southern California professionals, to qualify. Sixty-four lowcards and a tier will qualify but the large number under the par 72 figure yesterday and the long list of favorites and near favorites in today's group of starters gave rise to fears that anyone over par might be left in the club house at the start of the final 36 Sunday.

STOVE LEAGUE
SENDS SPEAKER
TO THE ROBINSNone Of Principals In Reported Deal Knows Anything

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Tris Speaker may become manager of the Brooklyn club of the National League but neither he nor apparently any one else in authority has been consulted about the matter.

A few hours after a New York newspaper had published reports that Speaker would manage the club while Wilbert Robinson, now president-manager of the Robins would confine himself to executive duties, Speaker and Robinson both issued denials that such a move was contemplated.

Speaker, who is under contract to manage the Newark club of the International League for 1930, said at Dallas, Texas, that as far as he knew there was no foundation for the report.

"My contract with the Newark Club has another year to run," said the former Cleveland outfielder, "and I have been at work this winter trying to round together a strong team involving some changes in the personnel. All my baseball thoughts have been with the Newark club. I positively have had no negotiations with Newark regarding leaving there nor with Brooklyn concerning entering its organization."

At Brunswick, Ga., Robinson characterized the report as "stove league stuff," and said he had nothing of the sort.

"I'm president and manager of the club," Robinson said. "And I've heard nothing about anyone else taking over the manager's job."

James P. Sinnott, president of the Newark Club, entered the picture with an announcement that he had not been approached either by Speaker of the Brooklyn club with the idea of having the "Grey Eagle" released from his contract obligations with Newark.

"If Brooklyn sought his services," said the Newark president, "the owners certainly would have got in touch with me."

According to the published report, the decision to name Speaker was a compromise between the warring factions which have torn the Brooklyn club with dissension for several years. Robinson, backed by the Ebberheims, heads one group with S. W. McKeever the other. McKeever opposed Robinson either as president or manager.

Lomski's Defeat By Maxie Wrecks Plan

Chicago, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Promoter Jack Dempsey's plan to make his Leo Lomski-Jimmy Braddock 10-round bout at the Chicago Coliseum January 17, a light heavyweight title meeting, has been wrecked by Lomski's defeat by Maxie Rosenbloom, at New York last night.

Dempsey had petitioned the National Boxing Association to declare the winner of the January 17 battle, light heavyweight champion to succeed Tommy Loughran, and planned to present a title belt to the winner.

Contracts Will Go
To Cubs January 15

Chicago, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Members of the National League Champion Chicago Cubs will know what wages they will draw this summer sometime after January 15.

The contracts have been written up and will be mailed the middle of the month. Any dissatisfaction concerning terms offered will have to wait until February 1 for discussion, as President William L. Veck will be away from his office until that time.

You'd never guess it, probably, but these girls here are shown in the process of graduation—graduating from the Venice Venus Club of Venice, Calif., an organization of young women who gathered together to keep their trim figures and abolish any excess weight that might appear. ## They Hold Tom Mooney's Fate

Whether or not Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings will be released from the California prison where they have served 13 years for the preparedness day bombing in San Francisco in 1916 depends largely on these men, members of the California state advisory prison board, who are studying evidence in the case and will report to Gov. C. C. Young whether or not pardons will be granted. Left to right, they are Court Smith, warden of Folsom prison; James Holohan, warden of San Quentin prison; Lieutenant Governor H. L. Carnahan, and James Johnson, California crime commission chairman.

Cubs Looking For
Owners of $1,000

Chicago, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The Chicago Cub management is still waiting for about $1,000 worth of customers to claim refunds for the unplayed sixth game of the 1929 world series. The club started refunding the money for the unnecessary contest tickets shortly after the series closed, but President William L. Veck said about $1,000 had not been collected.

Says Carnera Now
Citizen Of France

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The Daily News in a copyright story today said Primo Carnera, giant Italian boxer now here, foreswore allegiance to Italy last June and became a citizen of France.

In the June 23 edition of the Journal Official of the French Republic, under the heading "naturalized French by the law of Aug. 10, 1927," said the Daily News, appears the following:

"Carnera (Primo) boxer, born on Oct. 25, 1906 at Segus, Italy, and living at Aracchon (Gironde)."

"Decree of citizenship signed on June 13 by M. Gaston Doumergue, President of the French Republic, and by M. Louis Barthou, Guardian of the Seal and Minister of Justice."

The newspaper said it also learned that both the French and Italian consulates were investigating a possible irregularity in passports that would result in immediate deportation proceedings.

Mostil, White Sox
Gardener, Released

Chicago, Jan. 4.—(UP)—Members of the Chicago White Sox had something to think about today, after the outright release to Toledo of Johnny Mostil, for ten years a member of the Sox.

Mostil's release, it was said, was at the request of Donnie Bush, Charley Comiskey's new manager. Bush is anxious to build his team with as much new material as possible, and it is likely others of the old squad may feel the ax before the spring training season starts.

With Mostil went Danny Dugan, young left handed pitcher. Dugan, and it is possible he will be back with the Chicago team after the 1930 season.

Hanley is reported to have reached a verbal agreement with the university, providing for a sliding scale of increase in salary, with a contract for seven more seasons.

Britain's Second Air Mammoth

The fastest and one of the two largest dirigibles in the world—the British-built R-100—is pictured above moored at Cardington, England, after her maiden flight of six hours' duration. Note the flood waters, which surrounded the mooring mast at the time of the huge craft's arrival. A sister ship of the recently completed dirigible R-101, the R-100 may be flown to Montreal, Canada, soon. It was designed for regular trans-Atlantic service.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JUDITH CAMERON, typist in a New York publishing house, is snubbed by other girls in the office partly because of jealousy of her beauty and partly because Judith is not communicative about her private affairs. She incurs the dislike of KATHRYN TUPPER, office executive, who gives her disagreeable tasks.
ARTHUR KNIGHT, head of the department, who is reserved and a widower, becomes interested in the girl. Knight summons Judith to his office and asks her to take dinner with him. Judith, somewhat embarrassed, accepts the invitation. Knight, who has acted on a whim, becomes more and more attracted by the girl's magnetism. He is lonely and his two children—TONY, 18, and JILL, 16—are both away from home. It is three nights later that Judith keeps a mysterious appointment in a questionable section of the city with a young man whom she calls DAN.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER III

THE young man with Judith Cameron was arguing.
In the street darkened by looming outlines of bleak warehouses his features could not be distinguished. Then a taxicab driver circling at the streets' intersection threw the pair into bright illumination with his headlights.

A spectator would have had time to note that the girl was clutching her companion's arm and that her face was startled and pale. She was in dark clothes, as was the youth beside her. He was taller than the girl, rather slender, and wore a cap which shadowed his features. If the spectator had been very quick he might have noticed that the young man wore a mustache.

But there was no spectator. Not that evening.
The youth whom Judith had called "Dan" was arguing in low tones but his manner was heated.

The girl, after her quick, sharp exclamation, remained silent. Now and then she seemed about to speak but the torrent of the man's words held her.

At last he stopped.
"All right," Judith Cameron said in a subdued voice. "All right, Dan."

They were standing near the wall of an unlighted building. Dan drew away, looked down at the girl, and then clapped a hand on each of her arms.

"Good kid, Judy," he told her gruffly. "You'll go through with it?"

"I—I promise, Dan."

There was a quick movement in the dark. It might have been a car or again it might not have been. After this the couple headed about, walking swiftly in the direction from which they had come.

At the nearest subway station they parted. The young man touched his cap, gave a farewell wave and was gone.

Judith Cameron hesitated, watching the little figure disappear in the crowded street. A brooding look had come over the girl's face. Her pulse and self-confidence were gone. It was as though some power against which she had no strength at all had spoken and Judith was answering the summons.

Still, for an instant after the man was out of sight Judith waited. Then she turned quickly and hurried down the subway stairs.

THERE certainly was no sign to be discovered in the busy office of Hunter Brothers that Arthur Knight, officer of the board of directors and executive of the textbook division, was paying court to one of his newest employees, a stenographer whose pay envelope contained $22 weekly.

The first two days after their dinner party Knight did not see

"Judith, will you marry me?"

Judith, refraining judiciously from even passing through the outer office.

The third day he found occasion to enter the room. Judith Cameron was absent on one of Miss Tupper's innumerable errands.

Knights, with a gaze which was quite inscrutable, returned to his own desk. His fingers tapped a Morocco leather memorandum pad nervously.

Ringling the bell for his private secretary, he announced rather peremptorily that he would be out of the office the rest of the morning.

An hour later Tim Mulligan came quietly to Judith Cameron's desk. "Here," he said, handing her a crumpled, rather grimy bit of paper. "Here's what them dames was gabbling about so hot."

Judith looked down at the fragment of newspaper and then up at Tim.

"It's the boss's daughter—Tony," he explained. "Ain't she a looker, though?"

WHAT Judith held was a picture torn from the Sunday photograph section of a newspaper. The picture showed a slight, graceful girl in jaunty white riding breeches and white shirt open at the throat, high dark boots and gloves. She was holding a riding whip. The wind had puffed out wisps of dark hair from under the close white beret she wore. The girl was laughing, her face turned toward her companion who was also in riding clothes. He looked older and rather foppish. The two were walking, apparently in a park. Below the photograph were these words:

"YOUTHFUL HORSEWOMAN
Miss Antoinette Knight, popular member of New York's younger social set, was photographed at an Italian resort with Count Serge Bodanzky. The pair are often seen together on a morning gallop. Miss Knight is an expert horsewoman and has exhibited blue ribbon mounts often at Newport."

Judith studied the picture. "She certainly is a pretty girl," she told Tim.

"I'll say she is!" the boy echoed her sentiments. "Breezed in here once last summer to see the boss. Doiled up in a swell outfit and furs to put your eyes out. Tony's the berries all right—that's what they call her, you know."

Judith smiled and held out the clipping.

Tim shrugged his shoulders. "I don't want it. She's a little too old for me."

Then he grinned and returned to his task of sealing envelopes.

The little picture lay on Judith Cameron's desk. She studied the face of Arthur Knight's youthful daughter for several moments. Attractive indeed. The chin and eyes were like her father's. The resemblance was quite marked.

The photograph was indistinct and rather small, but somehow Tony Judith looked at it she knew Tony Knight to be willful, aggressive and a foe (if foe she should be) to be feared.

Slipping the pictures into her desk drawer, Judith continued typing.

The fourth morning following her dinner engagement with

Arthur Knight Judith was summoned again to his office. The message came to her once more from Kathryn Tupper's lips and a suspicious glancing glance accompanied it.

Judith stepped to the door of her employer's private office and knocked.

She heard his call to come in. This time, instead of waving her toward a chair, Arthur Knight rose and came forward.

"Miss Cameron," he said, taking her hand. "I wanted to see you."

"Yes, Mr. Knight?"

"Here—won't you sit here?" He faced the chair for her, then resumed his own at the desk.

The office manner was gone completely and Judith was smiling.

"I suppose it's not strictly according to business routine," he told her. "But I called you in here to ask if we might not have dinner together again tonight. I—I don't like to break the office program to make social engagements but, well—"

He broke off, evidently at a loss for words but smiling broadly.

THERE was no flush on Judith Cameron's cheeks. While Knight was speaking the haunted look had come once more into the girl's eyes. She hesitated, then spoke rapidly.

"I—I'm sorry, Mr. Knight. Tonight I have an engagement. Some other time—"

"Oh, I quite understand! That's all right. Would you care to name the evening?"

The girl sat silent.

"Yes," she said slowly. "I'll be glad to go with you Thursday."

Thursday was three nights distant.

"Very well. Let's make it Thursday then."

Judith rose and though she smiled, certainly there was wistfulness in that smile.

"At 6:30?" he asked.

"At 6:30."

They dined together that Thursday night. They dined again on Saturday and two nights later attended a musical play. It was a play of lovely melodies—mostly love songs. Judith Cameron had 10 engagements with her employer during the next two weeks.

On the tenth night he asked her to marry him.

They had returned from a concert at Carnegie Hall. Knight dismissed the cab as he helped Judith to the pavement and followed her up the steps.

"Is there any place—any place at all where I might come in for a few moments and talk to you?"

She led the way into the odorless, brightly furnished boarding house "reception room."

"Only this," Judith smiled wanly as she spoke. "It isn't—very elegant."

Arthur Knight did not once glance about the room. His eyes were intently on those of the girl before him. Dark eyes. Aroused now, insistent.

Tenderly he lifted the girl's chin with his two hands.

"Judith—his voice was low but vibrant—"I want you, I love you. Judith, will you marry me?"

The girl stared. She held back instinctively. Then with a startling little cry she threw herself toward him.

"Take me," moaned Judith Cameron. "Oh, please take me away—"

The rest of the exclamation was muffled in a cheviot shoulder.

CLOTHING AND COLDS

By MARION CRAIG POTTER, M. D.
Rochester, N. Y.

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

A chilled body is the cause of many colds.

Pastur proved that a chicken with a normal temperature did not catch a certain infection, but if chilled in cold water, the temperature becoming subnormal, it contracted the disease and died.

In the prevention of colds clothing is important, as eighty-five per cent of the body heat escapes thru the skin.

Clothing in itself is neither warm nor cool; its warmth depends on the ability of the fabric to conserve the natural heat of the body.

In summer the use of vegetable fibres, line, cotton and artificial silk, which are closely woven, are cooler, as they allow the perspiration which constantly lies like an invisible wet blanket on the skin to evaporate but do not absorb it. Water is a better conductor of heat than air, and the perspiration in evaporating carries off the heat of the body with round playing cards.

In winter leather, fur, and wool or silk which are knitted instead of woven, such as jersey and tricotette, help to retain the body heat. The air spaces in knitted goods encase the body, as it were, in a layer of dry air, which, being a poor conductor of heat, helps to maintain the temperature of the blood, as asbestos around steam pipes helps a heating system. Knitted goods, whatever the material, having porosity, absorb the perspiration (of which there is from one to two pints daily) allowing it to vaporize slowly thru the meshes, thus preventing the chilling effect of rapid evaporation. Two knitted garments or knitted cotton ones, because of their porosity and the insulating air space between them, may be warmer than one heavy garment.

It is as important to ventilate the skin as the lungs and to keep the pores open with frequent bathing. Water, sunshine and fresh air are great cleansers. History tells us that during a Florentine celebration a child was varnished with gold. It soon sickened and died in its gilded cage. Clogged pores are dangerous.

Men's clothing is more irrational than women's. In some uniforms a man is almost hermetically sealed.

The net-work of blood vessels in the feet may be compared to an auto radiator. If the feet are wet, the rapid evaporation chills the whole circulatory system. So keep the feet dry. Elderly people and children are especially susceptible to cold. Bed-socks and artificial heat are better than cold feet. Bare knees chill and do not harden youngsters.

Avoid colds by keeping warm and dry.

Have you seen Hal Bardwell about that auto insurance? tf

Nine Injured In Peoria Accident

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Running out of control down Knoxville hill today, a one man street car crashed head-on into the rear of another street car, injuring nine persons.

Frank Burkett, motorman, whose car ran wild, was injured, perhaps fatally. Five of the other injured were women. All the passengers on Burkett's car ran to the rear when they saw the crash coming and saved themselves from worse injuries.

Officials of the street car company said the brakes on Burkett's car were frozen and failed to hold on the hill, one of the steepest in town.

HOW HEAVY IS THE WEIGHT OF OPINION?

You can't measure public opinion in pounds, but there is no doubt that it does carry weight. On many occasions it may tip the scales between success and failure. And when you wear the suit we've just dry cleaned the weight of opinion is always on your side. Other folks think more of you—you think more of yourself. Which makes two opinions that are worth money to you.

We understand Jack Dempsey was quite peevish when he learned that I. B. Potter had substituted his picture in making up a cut for the Telegraph.

Teacher: What excuse have you for being late?
John (breathlessly) I—I—ran so fast, teacher, I—I—didn't have time to think up one.

FALSELY ACCUSED
Mother: Willie, I heard that instead of going to Sunday school this morning you played football.
Willie: That isn't true—and I've got a string of fish to prove it.

or even sheer pride of ownership. Whatever feature you most desire in tires you can take in full measure from the DUAL-Balloon. You may pick it for a single reason, but you will be served by all the features of super quality that have been built into it.

When the best in tires is now so easy to buy, why worry along with anything less than the General?

Today, Chevrolet presents the Greatest Chevrolet in Chevrolet History—a smoother, faster, better Six—with beautiful new bodies by Fisher.

Basically, it is the same sturdy, substantial Six which won such tremendous popularity in 1929. But it is a greater car in every way—for there are scores of vital improvements which contribute to comfort, performance, endurance and safety!

An improved six-cylinder valve-in-head motor, with its capacity increased to 50 horsepower; four Delco-Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers; fully-enclosed internal-expanding weather-proof brakes; a new dash gasoline gauge; heavier and stronger rear axle; new Fisher non-glare windshield; larger tires—

—these are typical of the many improvements which make this car the Greatest Chevrolet in Chevrolet History.

But most impressive of all—this smoother, faster, better Six has been made available—

--at greatly reduced prices!

During 1929, more than a million three hundred thousand persons bought six-cylinder Chevrolets. This enormous volume has made possible many savings in the Chevrolet factories—and, in keeping with its long-established policy, Chevrolet is sharing these savings with the public. No written description can do justice to the extra value and quality provided in this new car. Visit your Chevrolet dealer—see this car—ride in it—and judge for yourself its sensational value.
